

LEARNING...ANYWHERE, ANYTIME!

ArcLearn contains over 1,300 courses from the best producers of business skills training. Our courses are video based which makes them both fun and highly effective. They are well suited for all generations of workers from the young professional to the seasoned manager.

General Features

- Contains both DVD style and interactive eLearning courses. These courses also include tracking and a completion certificate. Interactive courses are lesson oriented self-paced courses with pre- and post-tests, and exercises.
- For self-study and eLearning, students have a central "Your Courses" to organize and control their selected and/or assigned courses.
- For classroom, trainers can play video and video segments as they now do with DVDs.
- End user management can control ArcLearn using administrative functions on the web site, and can view reports to review ArcLearn activity.
- Supports video assets including Microsoft video, Adobe Flash video, and Apple HLS. Supports video in high quality (full screen DVD quality).
- Internet-based using browser to access.
- Compatible with PCs, Macs, Android, iOS.

ArcLearn is the web-based solution to your business learning management needs, offering licensed video courses developed by the premier producers of business skills training materials.

It's a hosted Learning Management System (LMS)!

Students get a concise page to organize, take and track their own training courses.

Bookmarking allows for an interrupted session to be restarted right where it was left.

Trainers can assign courses to students, obtain tracking information and monitor progress.

Courses and students can be organized into groups for easier course assignment.

Administrators can control the LMS including deciding on passing percentages for Post Tests and the number of tries for a student to pass assessments.

It is a streaming video portal!

All courses are available for streaming; think of it as your virtual DVD library. Use the video as you might a DVD, but without the inconvenience.

It is a source for Trainers!

Trainers can use the entire library for either classroom training or for managing eLearning for employees. Video content can be downloaded to play locally at a higher quality level. This is a perfect solution where one is presenting on a large screen monitor or when limited Internet bandwidth is available.

Features for Training Coordinators

- The Course Assignment Tool will allow the coordinator to make temporary and permanent groups of employees and courses. Using common "list picker" widgets, the coordinator can assign groups of courses to groups of students easily and quickly. With the Assignment, an optional email is sent to each student. The student then will see the courses in his or her own "Your Courses" list.
- The coordinator will also have a Student Information Tool to list a subset or all students. The coordinator will have some limited management of each student's courses including the ability to remove as necessary. The coordinator will have course properties available which will be helpful when discussing course results with a student.

Features for End User Management

- Reports are available
- Course usage by person within date range
- Course usage by course within date range
- Listing of authorized users
- List of currently licensed courses
- Incomplete courses added by date
- Options are available
- Maximum number of assessment questions.
- Minimum percent for assessment successful completion
- Number of tries for assessment completion.
- Coordinator e-mail address (for student help).
- Add new individual employees.
- Upload lists of employees for mass registration with an excel spreadsheet. The only information required is employee name and e-mail address.
- Customized end user organization branding to include logo, company name, and your own student page message.

Features for Students

- Attractive platform for taking self-paced courses.
- Select courses from the entire list of licensed courses as necessary.
- Learning can be paced to the student's speed requirements. Courses are broken into lessons, and can be paused and restarted at any time, with ArcLearn keeping track of where they left off (even within a video). Next and Previous buttons on course pages give the student the ability to proceed at their own pace.
- Each student has a list of "Your Courses" either selected by the student, training coordinator or supervisor, and categorized as: (a) Personal Selection, (b) Required, and (c) Recommended.
- The "Your Courses" will provide information such as: (a) course title, (b) selection type, (c) product category, (d) the current status (successfully completed, in-progress, not started, unsuccessfully completed), (e) date selected, (f) target completion date or actual completion date, and (e) test scores. The student will be able to review and sort the list as necessary.
- The "Your Courses" list is the jumping off point to start or resume any course.
